Gulf port study lodged

The Spencer Gulf Port Link Consortium has lodged a feasibility study with the State Government for its Port Bonython export proposal.

The consortium has submitted detailed plans for the development of a deep-water commodities export harbour near Whyalla. The project has raised concerns in Whyalla that the cuttlefish breeding ground in Spencer Gulf would be adversely affected.

An Infrastructure Department spokesman said the report would take several weeks to be assessed before a briefing for potential users of the port would take place.
